Housing Sabadell

Housing Sabadell is a residential project that promotes a model of healthy, efficient housing deeply rooted in its context. The three-story building is organized around a central courtyard that ensures natural light, cross ventilation, and high environmental quality in all apartments, each of which has access to the outdoors through balconies and terraces. The project is framed within a bioclimatic design strategy that optimizes orientation, incorporates solar protections such as pergolas, and uses healthy materials along with simple, efficient construction solutions to reduce environmental impact. Additionally, the central courtyard not only enhances the comfort of the homes but also fosters neighborly relationships and strengthens the communal character of the project.
